Check Git Configuration Configure your Git username and email and verify the configuration.

Description

The purpose of this task is to configure and verify the Git user identity. Git username and email are configured using the `git config` command. The username identifies the person making changes, while the email associates commits with the user's identity. The configuration is verified using Git commands to ensure that the correct username and email have been saved successfully.

Student Name: Ayush Raj Pandey
Roll No.: 2581065

